Date: 3rd July 2003.

Skyguide, the air traffic service provider formerly known as Swisscontrol, has awarded a Training contract to Wx Systems to provide full training in the specialised preparation of Procedures for Air Navigation Services and Aircraft Operations (PANS OPS). Skyguide has been an active user of Wx Systems software since 1994, and currently maintains five active licenses of the software, which it uses to design and check procedures within Switzerland. Wx Systems Chief Executive Patrick Aisher says: "We particularly welcome the opportunity to provide further Training to Skyguide executives due to our long standing successful business relationship with them, and believe that this contract demonstrates our ability to cater specific training cycles that fit in with our customer demands".
